After Acute Bronchitis CURED BY USING

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

A PREACHER'S EXPERIENCE.

"Three months ago, I took a violent cold which resulted in an attack of acute bronchitis. I put myself under medical treatment, and at the end of two months was no better. I found it very difficult to preach, and concluded to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first bottle gave me great relief; the second, which I am now taking, has relieved me almost entirely of all unpleasant symptoms, and I feel sure that one or two bottles more will effect a permanent cure. To all ministers suffering from throat troubles, I recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—E. M. BRAWLEY, D. D., Dist. Secretary, Am. Bapt. Publication Society, Petersburg, Va.

ANY WIFE TO ANY HUSBAND.

Today, if I were dead and could not feel Your kisses or your tears upon my face, If all the world could give of woe or weal, Could find within my heart no resting place, You would not think of any bitter past, You would not chide me for a careless word, You could not be so cruel at the last As to condemn me, unconfessed, unheard.

If I were lying wrapt about in white, With flowers all around me, on my breast And in my hands, and on my face the light That angels shed upon their dead at rest— If I were lying thus, and one should say Such bitter things as you have said to me, With sternest anger you would drive away That one and swear 'twere all base calumny.

I'll not rebuke you, though my heart be full. I dare not chide. I, too, may be astray. Experience yet may teach a better school— Me what to do and what, perchance, to say. And yet I ask you, humbly, tenderly, If I should answer nevermore your call, Would you not grieve of all most bitterly For words and deeds that are beyond recall? —Pearson's Weekly.

THE CLIFF RUINS OF COLORADO.

A Region of Especial Interest to Students of the Prehistoric.

The cliff ruins of the San Juan and the Mancos have been the center of attraction, have been viewed from all sides, and their wonders have been told and retold to the world time and time again. Scientific men have visited the region, have penetrated southern Colorado and have considered that section a place of especial interest, because the cliff and cave dwellings are probably the oldest in this strange land, being the first built in that mysterious journey southward of a great but unknown people. For 20 years the prospector has followed the San Juan river and gazed with careless unconcern on the rough and broken walls, so full of interest to the archaeologist.

But the mind of the prospector has no room for curios, and he has no time for archaeological investigation. He sees only the glitter of the gold in the sand, and thinks only of the time when he shall have made his stake. In November of 1892 hundreds of gold hunters rushed madly into the canyon north of the Navajo mountain, traveled 300 miles over bleak, desert tablelands, suffering terribly from the cold, hunger and the long, wearisome journey. In a few days they had staked off all the available land for 50 miles up and down the river and then returned home without having obtained so much as a color of gold, and today have nothing to show for it but the stakes.

It is one of the most widely picturesque and beautiful regions in the world. The bleak old Navajo mountain rises abruptly and towers like a grim sentinel over the surrounding mesas, while in a canyon gorge more than 3,000 feet below its base the Rio San Juan appears like a silver thread. The canyon is several miles wide, and a descent can be made to the river only by a precipitous trail, but as the river approaches the great Colorado the canyon becomes more narrow and the wall more perpendicular, and when it merges into the Grand canyon it is scarcely more than a deep, dark channel.

A few miles from the Colorado river, where the canyon is not more than 800 or 1,000 feet from wall to wall, and where the walls are perpendicular and smooth, on the right wall are the pictures of seven warriors with bows drawn to the last notch, while across the river on the opposite side are the pictures of seven antelope, apparently in full run to escape the hunters. These pictures are well executed and are in the most inaccessible places. Evidently the artist had to be lowered from a ledge hundreds of feet above the picture and held suspended while he performed his tedious task. There are many places in the mystic southwest where such paintings are to be found.—Denver Field and Farm.

A Preparation For Padding.

Very many persons would like to know how to pad sheets of paper so as to make tablets, but do not understand the proper composition for putting on the edges. The following recipe is vouchsafed by competent authority: Glue, 4 pounds; glycerin, 2 pounds; linseed oil, one-half pound; sugar, one-quarter pound; aniline dyes in sufficient quantity to color. The glue is softened by soaking it in a little cold water, then dissolved, together with the sugar, in the glycerin by aid of heat over a water bath. To this the dyes are added, after which the oil is well stirred in. It is used hot. Another composition of a somewhat similar nature is prepared as follows: Glue, a pound; glycerin, 4 ounces; glucose sirup, about 2 tablespoonfuls; tannin, one-tenth ounce. Give the compositions an hour or more in which to dry or set before cutting or handling the pads.—New York Ledger.

BRITISH ELOQUENCE.

A Capital Specimen of the Speeches Made in Local Elections.

The following manifesto, copied verbatim from the original poster, is a capital specimen of election eloquence as applied to parochial contests: "Fellow workmen, gentlemen and ladies, I honorably put myself forward under your very kind notice for a seat on the Swanscombe parish council. Let me tell you as a man that I was the first to give cheap meat on Galley Hill and Swanscombe and all round. I never did and never will hurt a workman. When times is good, I want to get paid for my very superior food that I always supply, and when times is hard then you can take it at any price you like to feed your wives and children and your families from George Clinch. The Peoples only Butcher in this parish. I shall work hand in hand with the Rev. George Hale to bury the dead at the lowest price and put the poor body deep in mother earth, where they ought to be, and I promise that I shall sell my meat at the same price, I shall also help Mr. Dunbar (for he is an old Toft) to reduce the salaries of clergymen, as it do cost too much for prayers, and we can go up to glory at a less price. I also promise to do more than the last council, for they done nothing, and as Mickey Finn is not standing, but sitting down low, I can do good business and have no Donnybrook fair at our meetings—in fact, gentlemen and ladies, I shall do every mortal thing for the good of your body, and the parson will take care of your departed souls. I shall reduce the rates and get rent for the workmen cheaper. I shall light up your roads so that you can see them upon a dark midnight night. The last word I say unto you is, do your duty to yourselves and never mind about me, but put me on the council for your own sake and the interest of the men who get bread by the sweat of their brow."—Household Words.

HYPNOTIZED THE BEARS.

A Story Which Newsome Believes Because Anderson Is Cross Eyed.

J. E. Newsome is a Port Arthur Canadian and Alex Anderson named Pearl River. An Englishman named Anderson wanted to get a bear, and Newsome tried to gratify his desire. Newsome told Forest and Stream about it. Atwell was the kind of man who would like to kill a bear in a trap, so Anderson took two bear traps and a lot of bait up a gully near Outmet, looking for a sign. The Englishman went looking for bears and left Anderson to set the traps.

All of a sudden a big she bear appeared before Anderson at the foot of a tree between a couple of whose roots one trap was to have been set. Not having any gun, Anderson, so Newsome says, determined that hypnosis force had to be used, and that suddenly, Anderson looked the bear in the eyes, and the bear paused; then Anderson made three passes with his hands. The bear leaped its head forward and its eyes bulged out. Having satisfied himself that the bear was properly influenced, Anderson yelled for Atwell, but Atwell was a good way off, and before he could arrive the she bear's 2-year-old and a yearling cub came out of the tree at the same time. A yearling cub alone would be a pretty bad fighter at close quarters, especially with a hypnotized mother bear near by liable to come to at any moment, but a 2-year-old cub and a yearling both at once made a mighty serious matter.

But Anderson was fully equal to the emergency. He managed to look at the mother's four eyes at once and soon had them subjugated. Newsome says that he would not have believed Anderson's tale only Anderson is now cross eyed, which he wasn't before, owing to his looking both bears in the eyes at once.

Bismarck's Fateful Pipe.

Prince Bismarck is a great pipe collector, and the gem of his collection has a curious history. Many years ago, as Bismarck was strolling in the suburbs of Friedrichshagen with his two hounds, he was accosted by a plain meerschaum peddler and asked to buy a plain meerschaum pipe of the type that Bismarck most affected.

At first Bismarck declined, but the peddler claimed for the pipe a power of forecast and told him he would serve three emperors as minister, and that three important changes in his life would be foretold by accidents befalling the pipe.

Laughing, Bismarck bought the pipe. He had since served three emperors. Two days before the historic moment when he was refused an audience the stem of his pipe separated and went to pieces. Later he chipped a piece from the side of the bowl, and within a month he was practically dismissed by the present emperor. The third sign has yet to come.—Berlin Correspondent.

Dentists' Forceps.

There are about 200 different styles of forceps made for dentists' use, varying in the sizes and forms of the beaks and in the shapes of the handles. A dozen pairs of forceps would probably fill all the requirements of a single dentist, but another dentist, though he might use on the same tooth forceps with the same size and style of beaks, might prefer a pair with a different grip to the handles, and forceps are made not only to suit every requirement of the practitioner.—New York Sun.

Systems of Law in Germany.

No fewer than five systems of law are in use in Germany. In moving from one place to another tourists are often greatly puzzled when they find that an act perfectly allowable in one state is a crime in another. A still greater confusion often results when the right of property is considered.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

WATER QUESTION.

Engineer Von Geldern Will Make Further Investigations To-Day.

Otto Von Geldern, the well-known civil engineer of San Francisco, who has been engaged by the City Trustees to investigate and report upon the available water supplies in and adjacent to town, will be in town to-day and will visit and report upon the Vallejo, Lawrence, Schocken and other private water systems. The City Trustees have been hard at work the past month preparing to submit the proposition to the voters. An ordinance has been passed to first reading and will come up for final passage at the regular meeting of the Board next Wednesday evening, which provides for two regular meetings in each month. This ordinance was drawn up and introduced for the purpose of disposing of the water question as soon as possible.

Another ordinance will also be put on final passage declaring that public interest and necessity demand a better water system for Sonoma.

Of the four Trustees who are in favor of bonding the town for an improved water system to be owned by its people two own private water systems on their respective property, to-wit: Trustees Bulotti and Mogini.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.

Was Sinking for the Last Time When Rescued.

Miss Dolly Patterson of Alameda, well-known in this valley, where she frequently visits friends, had a narrow escape from drowning in Sonoma Creek one day last week. The young lady went in bathing with a number of lady friends. She got into deep water and being unable to swim sank to the bottom of the creek twice. As she was going down for the third time Mrs. O. W. Nordwell, went to her assistance and succeeded in rescuing her. It was a very close call for the young lady.

Hogicide.

A band of about 100 hogs, which had strayed upon the railway track, were run into by the Southern Pacific passenger train last Monday morning on the Mrs. R. J. Snyder ranch. The porkers were caught up by the cow-catcher and, amid unearthly squeals, sausage meat was seen to be flying in every direction. Six were killed outright and a number of others injured. The unfortunate porkers belonged to Abramo Marcucci, the lessee of the ranch. It is said to have been a deliberate case of hogicide.

Bankrupt.

Jas. McDonnell, formerly of this place, but now residing in Alameda county, has petitioned the Superior Court of that county to be declared insolvent. Next Monday has been appointed for the creditors to meet and select an assignee. "Little Mac," as he was familiarly known here, served one term in the Legislature from this district and has held other positions of public trust the past twelve years. Evidently politics did not pan out very well in his case.

An Eight-Dollar Jag.

Tesch Wander, a laboring man, started in early Sunday morning to get a "gag" on. He succeeded so well that he became noisy and demonstrative before the day was half over and was "run in" by officer Robin and charged with disturbing the peace.

After being allowed to sober up the prisoner was taken before Judge Cheney and pleading guilty to the charge was fined $8.

Bryan and Free Silver.

The people of Glen Ellen and vicinity turned out last Saturday to listen to free silver speeches by T. J. Butts and Virgil Moore of Santa Rosa. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Bryan and Free Silver Club of that place and its President, J. W. Gibson, presided.

A few coils of barb wire $2.75 per 100 lbs at the Schocken sale.

FATE OF A BOOM TOWN.

Investors in Town Lots and Acre Tracts Will Have to Lift a $57,000 Mortgage.

A dispatch from Santa Rosa says that Judge Dougherty on Monday last granted a judgment of nearly $59,000 in favor of Mrs. G. Gianella and against the Kenwood Land Company.

The Kenwood Land Company was organized in San Francisco in 1891 by a number of Chicago gentlemen, at the head of whom was Colonel D. M. Carman, now prominent in the State Development Committee. Mr. Carman was the chief promoter, and when the company purchased 2,800 acres of land, upon which the pretty little town of Kenwood now stands, he was sent East to describe the superior advantages of that section. He induced a number of Chicago families to settle on the tract, they to pay for their holdings on the installment plan.

For a time all went well. The income was sufficient to meet the obligations of the company, and large sums were laid out in making improvements. But when emigration stopped the company began to feel the pressure of the $57,000 mortgage it gave Mrs. Gianella to secure the payment of the balance due on the land. In the meantime some of the holders became suspicious and refused to make further payments.

Suit was eventually begun by Mrs. Gianella on the balance due, judgment upon which was made last Monday. There are over forty defendants in the case. Some of the holders will redeem their purchases during the six months allowed by law.

The failure of the company was caused by depression in the real estate business.

Death of Dr. Gray.

Dr. Wm. K. Gray, one of the oldest and most prominent physicians of East Orange, New Jersey, died very suddenly at his home on the 7th of last month, at the ripe old age of 78 years. He leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter, and relatives by the score in New Jersey and New York. His sons are Dr. N. T. Gray and Dr. Richardson Gray of East Orange and Rev. W. K. Gray of Nebraska. His daughter is Mrs. Dr. Sanger of East Orange. The doctor, who is an uncle of H. H. Granice, editor of this paper, had practiced in East Orange for forty consecutive years. He visited his Sonoma nephew several years ago and will be remembered by a number of our people as being a gentleman of education and pleasant address. It was only two years ago that Dr. and Mrs. Gray celebrated their golden wedding.

The Supervisorship.

There are a half-dozen or so aspirants for Supervisor in Sonoma and Vallejo Townships. Among the Democrats whose names have been mentioned are P. H. Thompson, the present incumbent, Judge J. W. Gibson of Glen Ellen and Hon. Robt. Howe of this place. The latter is also prominently mentioned for Legislative honors. The Republican aspirants are T. C. Putnam of Vallejo Township, Henry Weyl and Geo. O. Campbell of this place.

An Uncle's Bequest.

Francis Spring, who died in San Francisco last Saturday, aged 66 years, was an uncle of Mrs. Horace Appleton of this place. He was a retired capitalist and was worth nearly half a million. In his will he remembered all his relations. To Mrs. Appleton he bequeathed $4,000 and to her son, William Appleton, who resides in San Diego, he left the sum of $2,000. He also bequeathed to his wife and children $350,000. The balance of the estate went to other relatives and friends.

New Advertisements.

B. G. Allen, manager of the closing out sale at Schocken's store, announces a further reduction in prices in a mammoth adv. which appears on another page.

Hale Bros. & Co., of Petaluma have just received a brand new stock of fall dress goods and clothing, the prices of which are given in these columns.

Dr. Hugh Ross, who has located in this place to practice his profession, publishes his card in another column.

Brevities.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bulotti have removed their French Laundry from Broadway to their residence on Spain street. The laundry is doing a fair business and is deserving of encouragement.

A box of cigars for 50c. A much better one, a regular Peelos, for 75c at the sale of the Schocken stock.

WINE MAKERS' CORPORATION.

Will Advance Money to Its Members at a Reduced Rate of Interest.

The California Wine Makers' Corporation has addressed a circular letter to its members announcing that it will advance them money on the '96 vintage at a reduced rate of interest. Among other things the corporation says:

"Recognizing the general demand for money, which is likely to come from members, our now large capital will be as equitably distributed as possible among the many applicants, in installments of three cents per gallon, to be paid three months apart. This plan is adopted with a view of aiding the wine maker in establishing the same equitable terms for grape purchases we last year urged, and this year advise again, viz: one-third cash on delivery; one-third in three months, and the balance in six months."

"The Corporation will lend to its members on their Transfer Certificate, three cents per gallon about November 1st. Another loan of three cents per gallon will be made about February 1st, when the wines shall have been examined and reported upon by our officers; and a still further loan of three cents per gallon about May 1st, when the wines shall have been sold to the recognized buyers of the corporation; these loans to be assured to all members, limited only by the extent of our resources, which we now think will prove adequate for all requirements."
